Military Splendor Marks Opening of the Great Jamestown Exposition

Duty of Hour Expounded By President Roosevelt In His Address Before Formally Inaugurating Big Show at Norfolk

REFORM NOT VINDICTIVE

Assures Country That He Will Not Carry Punishment to Extent of Unsettling Business and Injuring Innocent Parties

OUTLINES FUTURE POLICY

Jamestown Exposition Grounds, April 26.—In the course of his speech at the opening of the exposition today, President Roosevelt said: "For half a century after we became a separate nation there was comparatively little immigration to this country. Then the tide once again set in and has flowed in ever-increasing size until in each of the last three years a greater number of people came to these shores than had landed on them during the entire colonial period. Generation by generation these people have been absorbed into the national life. Generally their sons, almost always their grandsons, are indistinguishable from one another and from their fellow-Americans descended from the colonial stock. For all alike the problems of our existence are fundamentally the same, and for all alike these problems change from generation to generation.

"In the colonial period, and for at least a century after its close, the conquest of the continent, the expansion of our people westward, to the Alleghenies then to the Mississippi, then to the Pacific, was always one of the most important tasks, and sometimes the most important, in our national life. Behind the first settlers the conditions grew easier, and in the older-settled regions of all the colonies life speedily assumed much of comfort and something of luxury; and though generally it was on a much more democratic basis than life in the old world, it was by no means democratic when

PADUCAH BOY ROUGH RIDER

Appears Here Today With Pawnee Bill's Show.

One of the most daring yet surest rough riders in Pawnee Bill's show, which appears here today, is Robert Bonnin, a Paducah boy, and since he joined the aggregation several weeks ago, has attracted unusual notice. Strange as it might seem for a boy from the middle states to outdo the best riders from the "wild and woolly west", it is a fact; and so much does Pawnee Bill think of the young Paducahan that he this morning presented his nephew, Master Giltner Segenleifer, son of Dr. and Mrs. James Segenleifer, with a small Shetland pony, just one week old. For the last year or more Bonnin had been employed in Paducah in J. E. Morgan's blacksmith shops on South Third street.

The show is at Twelfth and Trimble streets.

THE REV. J. M. MCLESKEY ASSUMES HIS NEW CHARGE.

The Rev. Joseph McCleskey, of Newbern, Tenn., has arrived in the city to assume pastorate of the Cumberland Presbyterian church and will preach his first sermon next Sunday at 11 a. m. in the county court house. The Rev. Mr. McCleskey is remembered by many of the older citizens, he having preached here 25 years ago. He also announces to the Paducah church that in Obion presbytery, where he is a member, there are 4,000 Cumberland Presbyterians.

DR. THOMPSON'S LECTURE PLEASES HIS AUDIENCE

The Rev. Calvin M. Thompson lectured to a large audience last night at the Mechanicsburg East Baptist church on the subject of temperance. Dr. Thompson showed himself to be a powerful advocate of the cause and his audience were enthusiastic over his remarks.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Partly cloudy and slightly colder tonight with possibly frost in north portion. Saturday fair and slowly rising temperature. Highest temperature yesterday, 82; lowest today, 43.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Spencer, W. Va., April 26.—The postoffice was entered this morning by burglars, the safe wrecked with dynamite, and money and stamps to the amount of $1,000 secured.

Taft Retires.

Washington, April 26.—Secretary Taft left Washington this afternoon for Cincinnati, without having made any public announcement, regarding his presidential candidacy. Whether he will make one after he arrives in Ohio depends upon the result of his observation and the trend of events there.

LITTLE MOTHER DIES.

Owensville, Ky., April 26.—Mrs. Milford Riggo died at her father's home here and was buried in the same grave with newly born twin babies. Mrs. Riggo was but fourteen years old.

DRIVING THEM OUT.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 26.—Preparations are being made by fifteen big life insurance companies to leave the state on account of the Robertson insurance bill, which compels them to invest 75 per cent. of Texas receipts in Texas securities.

THE STRIKE.

Whitney, April 26.—After an all night session the coal miners agreed to submit their differences to a referendum vote. Minister of Public Works Cushing promised the men an eight hour law if they would submit to the verdict of the arbitration board. This action was approved by Premier Ruthford.

ECKLES SUCCESSOR.

Chicago, April 26.—William B. Ridgely, federal comptroller of the currency, will succeed the late James H. Eckles as president of the Commercial National bank, according to a rumor in Washington.

SHAVE WHISKERS.

Burlington, Iowa, April 26.—Orders were issued to conductors of the Burlington railroad to have clean shaven chins, shave every day and eschew celluloid collars and to wear white ties and white linen waistcoats after May 1. Conductor Dana, who has been wearing a beard 33 years, will have to cut it off.

EARTHQUAKE.

Valparaiso, April 26.—It is feared serious damage was wrought in southern Chile by an earthquake felt here today. While no damage was done here, three shocks were distinctly felt. The direction of the shocks showed the earthquake probably was stronger south of Valparaiso.

CITY CORN FIELD MAY YIELD ANOTHER BIG CROP

The Chief James Wood is again planting the new city cemetery property, two miles beyond Oak Grove cemetery in corn, and hopes to be as successful as last year when he raised 900 bushels and saved the city $300 in feed bills.

PROGRAM IS FOLLOWED

Salutes Bellowed Forth Across Blue Waters of Hampton Roads Where Majestic War Ships Floated in Line of Procession

TROOPS MARCH BY HOURS

Jamestown Exposition Grounds, Va., April 26.—Three hundred guns at sunrise five hundred guns at 9 o'clock, a prayer, a speech, a golden key pressed by the president of the United States, a thousand flags unfurled from the roof tops of a new magic city, then more guns booming from the sides of the visiting battleships, from the clean cut hulls of our own matchless fleet, and from the gray walls of Fortress Monroe. This was the exposition begun which celebrates the three hundredth anniversary of the first English settlement in America, and is designed to demonstrate to the world the progress our country has made in art and science in commerce and invention, since the followers of Captain John Smith blazed a trail through the wilderness, and laid the foundations of the Virginia commonwealth.

The arrival of the president's yacht, Mayflower, from Washington was the event of importance, and as soon as her trim hull slipped into view, and she joined the fleet of United States and foreign warships,

PELL EIGHT FEET STRUCK ON POST

Workman in Illinois Central Cinder Pit Received Injuries. Extent of Which Has Not Been Determined

WAS PICKED UP UNCONSCIOUS.

An eight foot fall from a scaffold, striking a 2x4 post in his descent, seriously injured Dally Harvey, of 1617 Madison street, a laborer in the gang on the new cinder pit "job" at the Illinois Central shops yesterday. His injuries may prove serious, as it cannot be told for some time whether he is internally injured. Harvey pushes concrete and other material to the pits in a wheelbarrow. A scaffold above the excavation. Harvey stepped too near the edge.

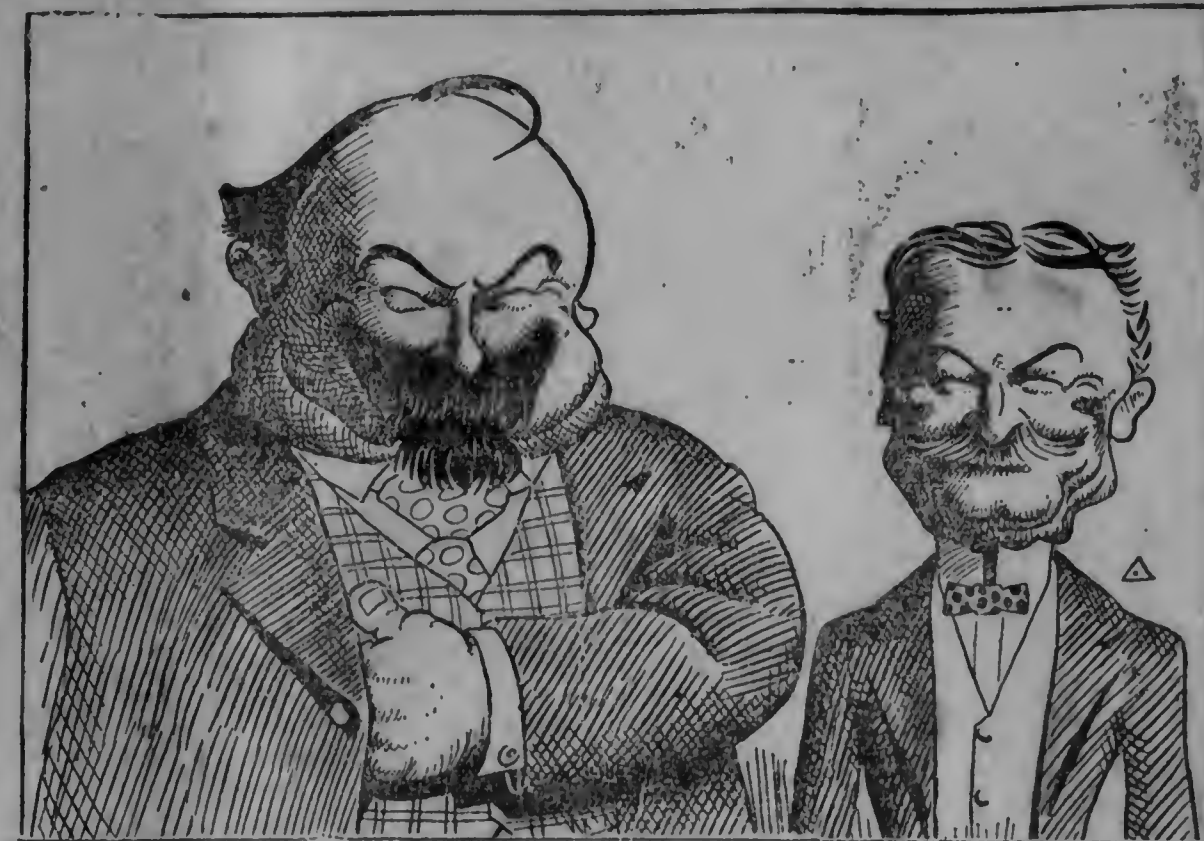

With a cry he fell. A small box casing made to form the cement foundations to the pit was directly below him and he struck his left side on a post protruding from the casing. He was picked up unconscious.

BROOKPORT BANK IS BROKEN INTO

Brookport, Ill., April 26.—(Special.)—Evidence found around the Brookport National bank building this morning indicate an attempt to rob the institution some time last night. The fact that the window had been prized up was discovered by a neighbor at 6 o'clock this morning. Nothing inside was disturbed. It is believed suspicious characters observed here yesterday were frightened away in their attempt to blow the safe.

The man who never has been ashamed of himself has nothing of which to be proud.

GOULD MEMORIAL BAPTISTRY DONE

Beautiful Work Enhances Interior of Grace Episcopal Church—Frescoing of Walls and Mosaic Floor

DESCRIPTION OF THE FONT.

Messrs. D. and R. Lamb, church decorators of New York, ranking with Tiffany & company, have finished the Gould memorial baptistry in Grace Episcopal church with the exception of the memorial windows, which will not be completed until the autumn. The walls on two sides have been frescoed and the floor is mosaic. As a whole, the baptistry is strikingly beautiful, and while there is an evident richness throughout the design, its simplicity adds to its charm. The baptistry is a gift from Mrs. Elbridge Palmer as a memorial to the Gould family.

The baptistry is on the left hand entering the church, and on the right side of the altar. Arches forming a room for it, enabled the artists to reach a fine effect. The font itself, of Italian marble, carved in Italy, rests on a base of square Georgia marble. Annunciation lilies erect stand out in relief on the lower half of the font. A circle inscription at the point of greatest circumference are the words, "One Lord, One Faith, One Baptism." This inscription also is found on the ewer. The font is closed with a flat mahogany top surmounted by brass decorations. It is inscribed to the memory of the baby daughter of Mrs. Palmer, Mira Bronson Palmer. The ewer is of brass and is inscribed "In Memoriam, John Vincent Gould, Jr."

The fresco work on the walls around the baptistry probably is the finest ever done in the city. It is an artistic shade of green. The design is as rich as the character of the work ever allows and in a circle on the mural cross behind the font is the inscription, "The Promise is Unto You and Your Children."

The windows will be in keeping with the beauty of the whole and are a special memorial to Capt. and Mrs. J. V. Gould, the mother and father of Mrs. Palmer, who are associated with much of the history and growth of Grace church in Paducah.

The mosaic floor, which was tiled by Welkel, of Paducah, is in keeping with the entire effect of the baptistry.

MAGISTRATE EMERY IS COUNTY REVENUE AGENT.

Charles W. Emery, magistrate, is now vested with dual authority, and will use it. This morning he filed his commission as revenue agent for the county, and has dived into his duties with a vim.

Engineer Completes Survey.

Engineer Thom, of Chicago, arrived in Paducah last evening to complete grades for sewer district No. 3, which work was interrupted during the winter by high water.

TWO ACCIDENTS CLOSE TOGETHER

Boy Nearly Splits Skull With Ax and Sister, Fainting at Sight of Blood, Falls on Pair of Upright Scissors

NEITHER FATALLY INJURED.

Two related accidents, either having fatal possibilities, occurred at the home of Captain Theodore Courcier, superintendent of the Cincinnati Cooperage company, near Eden's Hill, several miles from Paducah on the Mayfield pike.

Master Louis Courcier, 11 years old, was using an axe and in flourishing the heavy blade above his head he lost control of it and the sharp blade cut into his scalp just above his temple. With a cry the little fellow ran for the house, blood pouring from the wound.

Miss Annie Courcier, his sister, ran to his assistance, but while trimming the hair away from the cut with scissors, she fainted, the scissors falling from her relaxed hand. They reached the floor, points up, just before the young lady's body struck it. The sharp point of one blade penetrated her nostril.

COAL OPERATORS AND COMPLAINTS

Louisville, Ky., April 26.—(Special.)—Hearing of complaints of coal operators against the Illinois Central was begun today before Judge Judson C. Clements of the interstate commerce commission. NO LITIGATION OVER FRANK WILL

Mother and Son Agree to Compromise Suit Entered by Latter to Invalidate Testament of His Father

RANDALL SUIT IS DECIDED.

Only the presence and acquiescence of Attorney Mike Oliver, for the defendant, is needed to effect a compromise in the case of Ben T. Frank against Mary Chesterfield Frank, his mother in a suit brought to set aside a will alleged to be that of the plaintiff's father. The Frank estate is valued at something near $75,000.

Ben Frank filed a suit in McCracken circuit court against his mother to set aside the will, which devised everything to her, alleging that the will, which was signed in an illegible hand, was made at a time when his father was not of disposing mind. He asked that it be declared null and void and for his share of the estate.

Had the decedent died intestate, the widow would have received one-half the personal estate, and one-third of the real estate. Under the proposed compromise the son will secure a little less than 50 per cent. The papers are being drawn up this afternoon by Attorneys Campbell, Campbell & Campbell, and when Attorney Mike Oliver returns from Wickliffe tonight they will doubtless be signed.

Randall Case Is Decided.

In a judgment entered in circuit court this morning in the case of James J. Banks, of Denver, guardian for Mabel Randall against the Globe Bank and Trust company, guardian for Mabel Randall, the last order was entered.

Mabel Randall is a pretty girl of 18 years. Two years ago her mother, who had separated from her husband, abducted the child from a female school in Jackson, Tenn., and came here, fleeing immediately to Denver, Col., where she now resides. Banks was appointed guardian in Denver, and filed suit against the local banking house to have her legacy transferred. The judgment this morning was one transferring any funds and property she might have in McCracken county to the Denver guardian, releasing the Globe Bank and Trust company from the office in McCracken county.

ODD FELLOWS DAY TAKES BIG CROWD

Metropolis Crowded With Visitors From Many Points

Paducah's Three Lodges Are Augmented by Hundreds From Western Kentucky.

ANOTHER MEETING AT HARTLOW.

Metropolis, Ill., April 26.—(Special.)—Between 700 and 800 strangers are in Metropolis today attending the interstate convention of Odd Fellows. The Cowling brought 300 from Paducah and 125 from Brookport. The Dick Fowler brought 200 from Cairo and 100 from Mound City. Perhaps 200 more came from Carbondale and Harrisburg. Bands from Mound City, Metropolis and Paducah were in the parade.

The Paducah Delegation.

Amid the conventional din of a gala day, the Mangum, Ingleside and Mechanicsburg lodges of the Odd Fellows left at 9 o'clock this morning on the steamer George Cowling for Metropolis to take part in the annual interstate association convention of Odd Fellows. As the steamer pulled out the band played, the roustabouts danced, the girls giggled and the low rumbling sound of animated conversation came back to the wharf in a volume. Whatever might have been the crowd on a mild, sunny day, the crowd that left on the first trip of the steamer this morning was as large as the jaw allows the boat to carry. With the Paducah lodges many members and friends of the Bumpus and Massao lodges went down on the cowling.

After a rendezvous at the lodge headquarters, Fifth street and Broadway, headed by Deal's band in uniform, they marched to the river, E. T. McKinnay was marshal for Mangum lodge; Henry McGee for Mechanicsburg, and C. E. Renfro for Ingleside. Before leaving for Metropolis C. E. Renfro was elected grand marshal for all the lodges, to have charge of the Paducah delegation in the parade of the association at Metropolis. The members wore the insignia of their order. The Mechanicsburg lodge especially looked well in their new scarfs. Each lodge was distinguished by a badge, which the members wore. The Cowling was decorated and the scene on the boat was brilliant with colors.

The Paducah delegation to the interstate meeting of Odd Fellows at Metropolis today was augmented by 150 delegates from western Kentucky in Graves, Hickman and Fulton counties. This morning two coaches heavily loaded with delegates were brought up.

Many employees of the local Illinois Central shops were "laying off" today to attend the Metropolis meeting, and there was not the usual activity in the shops especially the machine and wood working departments. The lodge is strong in railroad circles.

Meeting at Hartlow.

Coincident with the interstate association meeting at Metropolis, the Southwestern Kentucky association of Independent Odd Fellows are meeting in annual convention at Hartlow today. This association is made up of Kentucky lodges exclusively, and is six years old. Hickman, Fulton, Arlington, Wickliffe, Bundana, Barlow and other towns have sent delegations to the convention in Hartlow today and a rousing country celebration has been planned. Speakers of note will address the crowds, several bands from other towns will be present, the election of officers, degree work will take place, and a grand procession of all the lodges will be the feature of the day. The women members of the lodges will serve an old-time country dinner to the members of the convention and their friends. The railroad has reduced rates to the convention and several Paducah persons of prominence were expected to attend. The Rev. Calvin Thompson, of the First Baptist church, could not go, and Col. Gus Singleton changed his mind, deciding to go to Metropolis.

SHAKESPEARE AND HIS DAY SUBJECT OF TALK.

Miss Allie Bagby will talk to children on "Shakespeare and His Day" at the library tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH

(Concluded from First Page.)

Judged by our modern standards; and here and there, in the tide-water regions of Virginia, a genuine aristocracy grew and flourished. But the men who first broke ground in the virgin wilderness, whether on the Atlantic coast or in the interior, fought hard for mere life. In the early stages the frontiersman had to do battle with the savage, and when the savage was vanquished there remained the harder strain of war with the hostile forces of soil and climate, with flood, fever, and famine. There was sickness and bitter weather; there were no roads; there was a complete lack of all but the very roughest and most absolute necessities. Under such circumstances the men and women who made ready the continent for civilization were unable themselves to spend but little time in doing aught but the rough work which was to make smooth the ways of their successors. In consequence observers whose insight was spoiled by lack of sympathy always found both the settlers and their lives unattractive and repellent. In Martin Chuzzlewit the description of America, culminating in the description of the frontier town of Eden, was true and lifelike from the standpoint of one content to look merely at the outer shell; and yet it was a community like Eden that gave birth to Abraham Lincoln; it was men such as were therein described from whose loins Andrew Jackson sprang.

"Hitherto each generation among us has had its allotted task, now heavier now lighter. In the Revolutionary war the business was to achieve independence. Immediately afterwards there was an even more momentous task; that to achieve the national unity and the capacity for orderly development, without which our liberty, our independence, would have been a curse and not a blessing. In each of these two contests, while there were many great leaders from many different states, it is but fair to say that the foremost place was taken by the soldiers and the statesmen of Virginia; and to Virginia was reserved the honor of producing the hero of both movements, the hero of the war, and of the peace that made good the results of the war—George Washington; while the two great political tendencies of the time can be symbolized by the names of two other great Virginians—Jefferson and Marshall—from one of whom we inherit the abiding trust in the people which is the foundation stone of democracy, and from the other the power to develop on behalf of the people a coherent and powerful government, a genuine and representative nationality.

"Two generations passed before the second great crisis of our history had to be faced. Then came the Civil war, terrible and bitter in itself and in its aftermath, but a struggle from which the nation finally emerged united in fact as well as in name, united forever. Oh, my hearers, my fellow countrymen, great indeed has been our good fortune; for as time clears away the mists that once shrouded brother from brother and made each look "as through a glass darkly" at the other, we can all feel the same pride in the valor, the devotion and the fealty toward the right as it was given to each to see the right, show alike by the men who wore the blue and by the men who wore the gray. Rich and prosperous though we are as a people, the proudest heritage that each of us has, no matter where he may dwell, north or south, east or west, is the immaterial heritage of feeling, the right to claim as his own all the valor and all the steadfast devotion to duty shown by the men of both the great armies, of the soldiers whose leader was Grant and the soldiers whose leader was Lee. The men and the women of the Civil war did their duty bravely and well.

In the days that were dark and terrible and splendid. We, their descendants, who pay proud homage to their memories, and glory in the feats of might of one side no less than of the other, need to keep steadily in mind that the homage which counts is the homage of heart and of hand, and not of the lips, the homage of deeds and not of words only. We, too, in our turn, must prove our truth by our endeavor. We must show ourselves worthy sons of the men of the mighty days by the way in which we meet the problems of our own time. We carry our heads high because our fathers did well in the years that tried men's souls; and we must in our turn so bear ourselves that the children who come after us may feel that we too have done our duty.

We can not afford to forget the maxim upon which Washington insisted, that the surest way to avert war is to be prepared to meet it. Nevertheless the duties that most concern us of this generation are not military, but social and industrial. Each community must always dread the evils which spring up as attendants upon the very qualities which give it success. We of this mighty western republic have to grapple with the dangers that spring from popular self-government tried on a scale incomparably vaster than ever before in the history of mankind, and from an abounding material prosperity greater also than anything which the world has hitherto seen.

Our Sovereign Duty.

"As regards the first set of dangers it behooves us to remember that men can never escape being governed. Either they must govern themselves or they must submit to being governed by others. If from lawlessness or fickleness, from folly or self-indulgence, they refuse to govern themselves, then most assuredly in the end they will have to be governed from the outside. They can prevent the need of government from without only by showing that they possess the power of government from within. A sovereign can not make excuses for his failures; a sovereign must accept the responsibility for the exercise of the power that inheres in him; and where, as is true in our republic, the people are sovereign, then the people must show a sober understanding and sane and steadfast purpose if they are to preserve that orderly liberty upon which as a foundation every republic must rest.

"In industrial matters our enormous prosperity has brought with it certain grave evils. It is our duty to try to cut out these evils without at the same time destroying our well-being itself. This is an era of combination alike in the world of capital and in the world of labor. Each kind of combination can do good, and yet each, however powerful, must be opposed when it does ill. At the moment the greatest problem before us is how to exercise such control over the business use of vast wealth, individual, but especially corporate, as will insure its not being used against the interest of the public, while yet permitting such ample legitimate profits as will encourage individual initiative. It is our business to put a stop to abuses and to prevent their recurrence, without showing a spirit of mere vindictiveness for what has been done in the past. In John Morley's brilliant sketch of Burke he lays especial stress upon the fact that Burke more than almost any other thinker or politician of his time realized the profound lesson that in politics we are concerned not with barren rights but with duties; not with abstract truth, but with practical morality. He especially eulogized the way in which in his efforts for economic reform, Burke combined unshakable resolution in pressing the reform with a profound temperateness of spirit which made him, while bent on the extirpation of the evil system, refuse to cherish an unreasonable and vindictive ill will toward the men who had benefited by it. Said Burke, "If I can not reform with equity, I will not reform at all." (There is) a state to preserve as well as a state to reform."

"This is the exact spirit in which this country should move to the reform of abuses of corporate wealth. The wrongdoer, the man who swindles and cheats, whether on a big scale or a little one, shall receive at our hands mercy as scant as if he committed crimes of violence or brutality. We are unalterably determined to prevent wrongdoing in the future; we have no intention of trying to wreak such an indiscriminate vengeance for wrongs done in the past as would confound the innocent with the guilty. Our purpose is to build up rather than to tear down. We show ourselves the truest friends of property when we make it evident that we will not tolerate the abuses of property. We are steadily bent on preserving the institution of private property; we combat every tendency toward reducing the people to economic servitude; and we care not whether the tendency is due to a sinister agitation directed against all

Piano Progress

One of the most notable industrial achievements of recent years is the development of the Piano Industry of the West. Only a short decade ago, all artistic pianos in the United States were made in the East, and Eastern manufacturers appeared to be content resting upon their laurels. Subsequently, with the advent of the old established, but progressive commercial house of Baldwin, of Cincinnati, upon the industrial field, this was changed.

The progress of the House of Baldwin, of Cincinnati, with its ramifications throughout the United States, was revolutionary in its character. Not only was the standard of quality of Pianos raised. Through the application of modern methods, the cost of production was lowered and unnecessary cost eliminated. Thus it is possible to-day, under the Baldwin system of Piano construction and distribution, to purchase from us Pianos of greater artistic merit, and higher industrial value, at a much lower price than of any other Piano firm in the land.

General H. B. Lyon Dies Peacefully
In His Sleep At His Home
Near Eddyville.

FUNERAL TAKES PLACE TODAY

General H. B. Lyon one of the most prominent politicians and Confederate veterans in the south, was found dead in bed yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock on his farm near Eddyville, Lyon county, by members of the family. He died of heart disease, and the news spread rapidly throughout the country, reaching Paducah early in the evening in a telephone message to friends and Confederate veterans, and the news was received with general regret and sorrow.

General Lyon was born in Lyon county 72 years ago. He was reared on the farm and on attaining his majority attended West Point military academy and graduated, becoming a lieutenant in the United States army. When the Civil war began, he resigned his commission and returned home, organizing a company and fighting for the southern cause. After several months' service in the Third regiment, his company was converted into a battery, and because of its leader's military ability, he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel of the Eighth regiment. Later he became a colonel and at last general, commanding the Kentucky brigade, under General Forrest. His career as a soldier was brilliant winning honors for bravery constantly, and when Fort Donaldson was surrendered to the federal soldiers General Lyon was officer of the day.

General Lyon was so bitterly opposed to taking the oath of allegiance that he went to Mexico and remained three years after the close of war. He was an expert civil engineer and worked at this during his stay in Mexico. On his return several years later, he settled in Lyon county again and had resided there since.

As a politician General Lyon was prominent. Thirty years ago he was made warden of the Frankfort state penitentiary, and was one of the commission appointed to select a site for a branch state prison, locating it at Eddyville in his own county. He further superintended the work of its construction.

In 1899 he was elected representative from Lyon county to the state legislature, and served his term with credit.

General Lyon often visited Paducah and could count his friends here by the hundreds. Several times he has been present at meetings of James T. Walbert camp, Confederate veterans, always keeping in touch with his comrades.

General Lyon leaves a wife and six children, one son being Lieutenant Frank Lyon of the United States navy.

The funeral will take place Sunday at Eddyville and will be in charge of the H. B. Lyon camp, Confederate veterans of Eddyville, of which he was a member. Many Paducahans will attend.

PAYS $15,000 TO INJURED MAN

Railway Sets Record in Settling Employee's Damage Suit.

New York, April 26.—The attorneys for the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company have agreed to pay Harry Munro, a former brakeman, $15,000 for injuries received by him January 11 this year, while he was working for the company.

Joseph A. Shay, attorney for Munro, brought suit for $100,000. The complaint said that Munro, while at work on the top of a freight train, caught his foot in a hole on the roof of one of the cars. He was thrown between the cars, his right arm and leg cut off and the fingers of his left hand amputated.

When the case was called for trial there was a consultation with S. W. Swift, attorney for the railroad, and then Mr. Shay announced the settlement.

NEW'S VIEWS

PRESIDENT HAS NOT LOST HIS GRIP ON MASSES.

Chairman of Republican Committee Says Fairbanks' Boom Is Progressing Meritly.

Washington, April 26.—"Anyone who says that President Roosevelt has lost his grip on the sympathies of the great masses of the American public, does not know what he is talking about. The rank and file are with the president and his policies as strongly as ever." This is the opinion of Harry S. New, chairman of the Republican National committee, who arrived in Washington today. Mr. New declined to discuss the political situation, but when asked as to his position in regard to the nomination of President Roosevelt, he said that the third term was no bugaboo to him. Further than that, Mr. New diplomatically declined to commit himself in regard to third term agitation.

According to Mr. New, the Fairbanks boom is progressing meritly in Indiana. Mr. New said that Indiana seemed solidly in favor of Mr. Fairbanks, eliminating the president from the race. "I have no doubt that if Mr. Fairbanks becomes a candidate, he will get almost the entire Indiana vote."

There are lots of things children would never think of doing if their parents did not forbid the doing thereof.

Roxboro Clothes

We are very much enamored of our Roxboro Suits, tailored under our orders by the most accomplished houses in the country. We selected the materials and designs to the end that we might secure not only the best but the most exclusive, and thus make every line desirable. Many wholesale tailors make up those materials which in their judgment will sell best, and have no consideration to exclusiveness which men of taste demand. Hence we may say that our display is unique and as high in class as the period permits.

ROYAL WORSTED GREYS.

No notice that classy persons are selecting them. The shades vary. Some are plain weaves, others diagonals, and some plaids. They fit with remarkable accuracy. The prices likewise vary from $15.00 to $35.00.

SHADOW PLAIDS.

Daily Thought.

"You would better keep hustling with your heart full of pessimism and discouragement than to sit supine with your soul full of optimism and cheerfulness."

IS THIS ON THE LEVEL?

If we were perfectly sure the following tribute to Secretary Taft, published in the Chicago Tribune, was entirely candid and not merely an introduction to the cracker at the end of it, in order to win the confidence of its readers in the sincerity of its motives we should heartily approve it:

Secretary Taft has chosen wisely in deciding not to begin an active campaign for the presidency in Ohio. He is not the kind of man it would be easy to push or "hoist" into the presidency. If he is nominated it will be on his merits. He has many qualifications for the presidency. He is a big man every way—physically, intellectually, and morally. At the same time he is an active man. The amount of work he is able to do would put to shame many men younger and lighter than he is.

He has traveled almost hundreds of thousands of miles in the service of the government. He has had to deal with a number of perplexing questions. He has been concerned in matters that related to the state department as well as those that pertain to the war department. He has had to handle questions that in another country would properly be delegated to the colonial secretary. He has made no mistakes. The secretary stands high in the estimation of his countrymen, and most people will feel that if he shall be nominated for the presidency no mistake will be made.

In spite of his great bulk he is a man of excellent health, of exemplary habits, and of indefatigable industry. He is light on his feet and nimble in his mind. He is able to turn quickly from one subject to another and dispatch an enormous amount of business. Above all, he is a fair minded man. He has had a judicial training. He would adorn almost any position in the government from that of chief justice to that of president. If the choice of the people eventually shall fall upon him it will be a fortunate choice.

It is another thing to have him "shoved" upon the people. We do not like to consider Secretary Taft as the "heir" to the administration, nor President Roosevelt as the man who is choosing a political "heir," or who feels that it is incumbent on him to name his successor, or that it is proper for him to do so.

The inference here seems to be that Roosevelt is doing just what the Chicago Tribune deplores, and that Roosevelt is seeking primarily and solely to name the individual who shall succeed him. If this was a fact and Roosevelt was endeavoring to construct and perpetuate a personal machine, we should not only deplore, but we should denounce such distastefulness. But its dimness on this point, is what casts suspicion on the expression of the Chicago Tribune.

In the first place, Roosevelt, as none of his predecessors for decades, represents a principle, and in that principle, represents the people, as opposed to demagoguery on the one hand and piratical private interests on the other. He has undertaken a policy in which he is wrapped heart and soul. In the sense that his policies are the embodiment of public integrity they are revolutionary. At this very crucial point, when he is on the eve of resigning the chief magistracy, there is a reactionary movement on foot. The president has the confidence of the people, and he feels an obligation to lead them in their battle for a higher ideal in politics. In this sense, as the first citizen of the country, he has not only the right, but the duty devolves upon him, to sound his voice in choosing the next president.

In the second place, Roosevelt did not attempt to "shove" Taft on the public. Roosevelt could not "shove" Taft on the public. There is not sufficient federal patronage to control the state delegations, against the combined will of the people and the state patronage.

That Taft is the choice of the president, there seems to be no doubt; but if Taft is not the choice of the people he will stand little show. The fight was started on Roosevelt and his policies, first, to suppress him; then, that failing, to succeed him with a reactionary. When the enemies of the administration and the enemies of the people undertook their coup Roosevelt assumed the aggressive, because that is his style of fighting.

If Taft is popular and capable and wishes to be president, and Roosevelt likes him and wishes him to be president, we can scarcely comprehend the ethics that would compel the president to sit supinely in the executive chair and permit his enemies to run away with the nomination.

In other words the difference between Roosevelt and his predecessors is more a matter of temperament and ability, than a matter of conduct.

THE BACKWARD GLANCE.

It's a grand thing to look back occasionally and see whence we came, as we are doing in the ter-centennial celebration, which opens auspiciously at Jamestown today. It will be a good thing then to "take a squint up the road ahead," and see where we have to go. Most of the speakers, no doubt, will refer to what we have accomplished in the time intervening between the first English settlement and the present, speaking in our national sense, and most of their hearers will accept their words as a personal compliment. How far we progress, it will be for future generations to discover. We haven't had anything to do with the "Jamestown to the present" movement, except to enjoy the advantages of it. The look backward is advantageous in that it shows us how far off the course we have gotten and the mistakes made by those who went before us. Then, the observations ahead may be intelligently taken.

We have much to be proud of, when we consider the insignificant colony struggling to secure a foothold on the Virginia coast in 1607, and the majestic manner in which our great nation welcomed the envoys of the world this morning in Hampton Roads. We shall have much cause to be ashamed if we do not emulate the example of those who have gone before and perform those patriotic duties that lie in our way today.

It is apparent from the manner in which the western Kentucky papers speak of the sadness of the funeral of four little children at Fulton, that the rural press still clings to the ideal of a happy, joyous funeral.

EXPOSITION OPENS

every vessel fired a presidential salute of 21 guns. The president's review of the fleet, consumed about one hour, and as soon as the Mayflower had made her journey around the warships, and had received from each her greeting of 21 guns, the yacht came to anchor, and the president gave his reception to the flag and commanding officers of the fleet. Surrounded by a brilliant gathering of gold-laced officers, the president stood on the deck, and shook hands cordially with each officer as he came over the side. By 10 o'clock the reception was ended, and the visiting officers returned to their ships. The president was allowed a little time to rest before the exercises began on land, but he was on the move again by 11 o'clock, going ashore in the Mayflower's big launch. As he stepped over the Mayflower's side to disembark, the blue presidential flag, which had been flying from the peak of the yacht came down, and at the same moment one of the white clothed sailors unfurled a duplicate flag of blue, and floated it from the stern. Before the launch put off from the Mayflower's side the guns of the yacht began counting the 21 signals from each of the big ships. The president was met at the end of the pier by a military escort, and as he entered the exposition grounds was given another 21 gun salute by the United States artillery. It lacked but a few minutes of 11:30 when the president was escorted to the reviewing stand on Lee's parade, in the rear of the Auditorium building, where the opening exercises were to be held.

The Ideal Opening.

This is the program that was followed:

1. Opening prayer by the Right Rev. Alfred Magill Randolph, bishop of the diocese of Southern Virginia.
2. Address and introduction of the president of the United States by Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Exposition company.
3. Address by Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States.

The opening by the president of the United States. As soon as President Roosevelt touched the gold button which was to turn on the electric current throughout the exposition grounds, every wheel in the new city began to move. At the same moment a thousand flags were unfurled, all the ships in the harbor contributed their share by firing salutes, every band burst forth with "The Star Spangled Banner," and every soldier presented arms. The Jamestown exposition was open.

But that was only the beginning. The military review came next and for nearly an hour the president received the salutes of the troops, led by Major General Frederick D. Grant. Behind the soldiers and sailors of the United States in formidable array came the fighting men from the warships. Many governors of states who came to the exposition with military escorts, helped swell the procession of armed men.

BIG TIME

ENJOYED ON CENTRAL LABOR UNION EXCURSION.

Steamer Will Carry Crowd to Cairo Sunday to Witness Airship Flight.

Both afternoon and evening excursions on the steamer Island Queen, given under the auspices of the Central Labor Union of Paducah, were successful, and might have been more so, but for the sudden change of weather in the late afternoon, which had a tendency to cut down the patronage of the evening excursion.

In the afternoon the boat went below Metropolis carrying about 250 Paducahans. At Metropolis about 100 excursionists went aboard.

About 650 Paducahans were taken out in the evening. Many were left on the bank, fearing the chilly weather, a strong, biting wind having set in from the north. The heat of order was kept on the boat, and the excursions proved most satisfactory.

Another excursion will be run by the union on the steamer "J. S." Sunday to Cairo to see the airship.

In the contest for the most popular young lady Miss Edith Sisk received 141 votes and received a $100 diamond ring. Miss Gertrude Haag was second, winning a handsome gold necklace.

"IT IS ALL SETTLED"

Says Colonel John Trantham, of Railway Engineers.

"It's all settled now, and you can tell 'em so," Colonel John Trantham, chairman of the joint protective board of the Illinois Central Brotherhood of Railway Engineer and Fireman wearily remarked as he descended from the steps of the early morning Fulton train. He had just returned from Chicago after putting the finishing touches to the settlement of the scale of wages question.

"It was a hard four months of work we had, and I am glad it's over," he continued. "Tell 'em everybody is satisfied and the 'goose honk high', and this is 'nuff said.'"

Colonel Trantham had been in Chicago this week assisting in settling the expense account for the long meeting. He refused to give figures, but it went into the thousands. It is tipped.

MUSCLE BEFORE BRAINS IN VALUE TO HUMAN RACE

Louder, April 2.—"The whole of the knowledge of the world comes to us through our muscles, and is remembered by them. Muscle memory indeed is the essential part of memory. Not only physical force lies there, but the mind of the real man. It marks out his knowledge and defines his character."

This statement was made by Sir John Cockburn, who presided at a large meeting of educationalists from all parts of the country, held in the Blackpool secondary school in connection with the annual conference of the National Association of Manual Training Teachers.

Sir John contended also that but for muscular movement we should never have had any brains worth talking about, and as constructive genius and originality would be the requirements of the future, he pleaded for the class room to be the adjunct of the workshop. Muscles were of primary importance, brains were secondary, he said, and declared that it was preposterous that in the class

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

"Life consists not in living, but in enjoying health."

We could all enjoy health if we conformed to Nature's simple laws. Disease is merely a result of the non-observance of those laws, either by negligence, accident or ignorance. These reasons are, as a rule, of little consequence after disease becomes manifest and properly diagnosed. It is the nature of the treatment and the results obtained that concern you.

Nature is the ever present factor in the cure of disease. The Osteopath appreciates this fact, and uses all means that are natural, recognizing and using diet, air, water, exercise and other hygienic measures as natural assistants to scientific manipulations to secure normality to any and all structure disturbances.

I should be pleased to refer you, at any time, to Paducah people you know well who can attest to what Osteopathy has done for them in cases of rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, nervousness, stomach, liver, and bowel troubles, eczema, skin headaches, la grippe conditions, malaria, lumbago, disturbed blood conditions. If you are ill you owe it to yourself to investigate Osteopathy. Dr. G. B. PROAGE, 516 Broadway, Phone 1407.

PEOPLE AND SOCIAL EVENTS

Crescendo Club.
The Crescendo club met yesterday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock with Miss Virginia Newell at her studio on North Seventh street. An interesting miscellaneous program was presented. Miss May Frederick gave "The Story of the Tannhauser Opera" and Miss Helen Hillis played the "Song to the Evening Star" from this opera. These were the special features.
It was announced that Mr. Leihling would appear in Paducah under the auspices of the club on the night of June 5 at the Woman's club auditorium. It will be the initial artist appearance at the club house.
There will be one more regular meeting of the club on May 9, and on May 23. Miss Newell will give a social entertainment for the club in closing.

Magazine Club.

The meeting of the Magazine club with Mrs. Charles K. Wheeler, 504 Kentucky avenue, yesterday afternoon was a most pleasant and interesting session. The report of the committee in the Year-book, Mrs. Anna Webb, Mrs. George Wallace and Miss Helen Lowery, was presented by Miss Webb the chairman. Among the important changes will be a reduction in the present number of magazines, discussed, making 8 instead of 16. There will be: Harper's, Century, Outlook, Cosmopolitan, North American Review, Literary Digest and Scribner. There will be six reports at each meeting instead of 12, allowing each member to report every two months instead of every month. The reports will be compulsory and from the magazine assigned; if impossible to attend a substitute must be secured. The Year Book is arranged in every detail for the year, and will be issued immediately. It will be in the club colors of white and gold and will be attractive in appearance. Responses will be made to roll-call with "Current Events."

DELICATE CHILDREN.

Advice to Paducah Mothers Who Have Delicate Children.

If we could only make all fathers and mothers in Paducah regard what we say there would be fewer sickly delicate children on our streets.

Rapidly growing children need a great deal of vitality. They grow fast, play hard, and work too hard at school, and many such children are tired, thin, pale and worn when they ought to be robust and rosy.

Every run-down, growing child in Paducah should take Vinol, our delicious cod liver preparation without oil. It requires almost no digestion at all and cannot upset delicate, weakened stomachs as do old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions. Vinol also contains peptonate of iron. It strengthens the digestive organs, makes new vitality, sound flesh and muscle tissue, strong bone structure and pure, rich, red blood. Vinol fills out hollow cheeks and makes thin little arms and legs plump and round.

Said Mr. W. B. McPherson, our local druggist: "We cannot recommend Vinol too highly for puny, weak and ailing children, to build up the run-down, over-worked, tired and debilitated, or to give renewed vitality to the aged, and we cheerfully refund the money in every case where it fails." W. B. McPherson, Druggist.

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Paducah, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. (Look for the Vinol agency in your town.)

A Common Mistake.

It's a common thing for people to think, when they feel a trifle depressed or out of sorts, that their stomach is out of order.

Perhaps it may be out of order. However, it's much more likely, especially if over 35, that the real trouble is with the kidneys, and the system can soon be restored to normal condition by taking Lantz's Red Kidney Pillets and cleansing the kidneys.

Tell you why! The kidneys are the scavengers of the body.

When in a healthy condition, the kidneys remove about 500 grains of impure and poisonous matter from the blood daily, most of these impurities being passed off through the urine.

But, if your kidneys get clogged up, much of the impure matter remains in the blood, and if your stomach isn't strong will create a disturbance there.

So, don't dose your stomach. Cleanse your kidneys.

Nothing is as good for overworked or sluggish kidneys as Lantz's Red Kidney Pillets.

They cleanse the kidneys and their medicinal action is mild and benign. They also have a sedative effect upon the stomach, and being slightly laxative, their combined action upon the stomach and kidneys will soon put vigor in your step and color in your cheeks.

Cleanse Your Kidneys With Lantz's Red Kidney Pillets.

If you have never used these Pillets, we will gladly give you a two days' trial treatment free.

NEW ENEMY

ANOTHER PEST FOUND FOR SHADE-GROWN TOBACCO.

Threatens to Surpass the Destructive Bud Worm in Injury to Crop.

Washington, April 26.—W. A. Hooker, a special agent of the department of agriculture, has returned from a trip through the tobacco fields of the south and has issued a pamphlet dealing extensively with "the tobacco thrips," a new and destructive enemy of shade-grown tobacco. The paper contains a general account of this thrips, and gives recommendations for applying remedial measures.

It seems that on tobacco grown in the south, and under shade especially, insect enemies of the crop are found at their worst. Of the many insects with which the planter has had to deal in the past, the bud-worm, requiring two and three applications a week of arsenicals, has been far in the lead in the amount of damage done. It often happens, when a crop is introduced in a new locality, that insects previously unknown, finding in it a desirable food, multiply rapidly through new and more favorable conditions, and thus become serious pests. This is what has happened to shade-grown tobacco in the south.

The thrips, which first appeared on tobacco in 1888, has made the raising of a second crop of shade-grown tobacco in Florida unprofitable. The leaf miner, or spitt worm, also has attacked and become injurious to tobacco, and now comes a new pest in this new "tobacco thrips," which has threatened to surpass the destructive bud-worm in actual injury.

Jury Promised Front Seat by The Judge at Hanging of the Prisoner

Washington, April 26.—The supreme court has been asked to declare illegal, under the constitution, a trial, because the jury that convicted the accused of first-degree murder had been promised "front seats at the hanging" as a reward. The case is that of William Spangh, of Iron county, Missouri, who killed the sheriff, Attorney for Spangh, arguing the case yesterday, said that the new sheriff, a man named Jordan,

South is For Roosevelt Solidly is Opinion of Hitchcock at End of Tour

Washington, April 26.—First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock returned today from the south, where he has been for the past week primarily on an inspection tour of the southern postoffices. Mr. Hitchcock said he had learned only today that his trip had been given a political significance in newspapers in the north, in which the statement appeared that he was on a mission for the president to ascertain, first hand, regarding any new direction in the Republican sentiment in the south.

Mr. Hitchcock denied with emphasis that President Roosevelt directed his movements. "It is true," he continued, "that while my trip was partially one of inspection and one which I had planned months ago, I discussed politics to some extent. This was only natural, as I was called on by many southern Republicans officially connected with the govern-

A SPRING MEDICINE. With the advent of Spring many people feel the need of a tonic of some sort and there are not a few favorite spring tonic formulas treasured almost as heirlooms in old families. Some of these have real merit and should be made public for the public good, but their holders are in most loath to give them wide publicity. A thoroughly scientific prescription that is found to do the work required of a Spring medicine and to do it quickly and agreeably is composed of 1/2 oz. Fluid Extract of Buchu, 1 oz. Bile Mixture, 1-4 oz. Fluid Extract Gentian Compound and 15 ozs. water. The proper dose is a tablespoonful taken three times a day, before meals. Any good pharmacy will put up this prescription at small expense.

The daughter remained in Paducah with her husband John L. Braden, when the mother went to Wisconsin. Mrs. Reader states that she has been unable to get a reply from her daughter, although she has written several times, and believes the girl, who is young, and with a young child, to be unable to manage her own affairs.

Scientist Finds Mice and Kittens Are Lighter After Death.

Los Angeles, April 2.—Professor H. La V. Professor Twining began his experiments on mice, kittens and grasshoppers. He has found that a distinct loss of weight follows the death of each of these creatures.

ROAD CONTROVERSEY

REVIVED BY PENDING AMENDED PETITION FOR PUBLIC WAY.

Judge Lightfoot Tells Petitioners It Must Be for Thirty Foot Roadway.

The controversy between Robert Potter and B. C. Magruder over the opening of a road through the former's farm on the Cairo road, has come to the front again after lying in obscurity for several months. County Judge R. T. Lightfoot has ruled on W. N. Bryan and R. J. Boldry, property owners, to supplement their original petition asking for an 18 foot strip of ground opened through the Potter farm as a roadway, making the petition read "a 30 foot strip of ground." Not until then will the Judge pass on the case, this being the minimum width of county roads.

Potter's private lane, which had been traveled by Magruder to his farm beyond Potter's property, was closed after years of use when the Illinois Central built its Cairo extension. W. M. Magruder filed a suit to compel the opening of the lane, and Circuit Judge W. M. Reed decided that the lane should be opened. The court of appeals reversed the decision, and a regular petition for the opening of the road followed. Many property owners have signed the petition where formerly only Magruder was fighting for the opening of the lane.

TAKES BIRD, LEAVES POETRY.

A "Soft, Persuasive, Mellow Thrill" Tempts Him To Rob.

New York, April 2.—Probably the Audubon society will be interested in the poetic and bird loving burglar who robbed Joseph Beini of a canary, a pair of shoes, and a razor today. Beini loudly complained at the East Fifty-third street police station that the door of his room on the fourth floor of 926 Second avenue, had been forced.

"And read what the rascal had the impudence to write to me," said Beini. He tossed before Lieutenant Ellis a big sheet of manila paper on which was rudely scrawled: World-weary as I passed along From yonder casement came a sound, A soft persuasive, mellow thrill, All listening hearts with joy to fill.

With sweet appeal the captured bird, Told of its woes, and as I heard, I felt that I, the one must be To set the tiny prisoner free.

P. S.—Man who keeps bird in cage deserves to lose more than his boots and his razor.

"I don't care a rap about my shoes and my razor, but I want my canary," said Beini, who is a cigar-maker. "It is not only a sweet singer but an animated alarm clock. It wakes me up early every morning by singing to me."

Ellis sent out Detectives Toben and Cummings, but they caught neither bird nor burglar.

Woman's Rights in War.

Admiral Rodney, in a hot action with the French, was amazed to see a woman helping to serve one of the guns. "What on earth brings you here?" he shouted.

"Please, your honor, I'm here in place of my husband, who is down in the cockpit having his wound looked after. Do you think, your honor, I'm afraid of them frogaters?" Rodney said no more than that; but after the action he sent for her and asked: "What business have you on board at all?" She was dumb and trembled till he added: "Well, you are a brave lass, and here's 10 guineas for supplying your husband's place so gallantly."—T. P.'s (London) Weekly.

Dandelion

Removes the Cause of Kidney Trouble.

Guaranteed under Pure Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1905. Serial 3517.

A healthy kidney is a filter. The blood goes in one end of the kidney full of poisons and waste material. It comes out from the other end perfectly pure. Like all filters the kidneys get out of order. The trouble is only slight at first, but rapidly becomes dangerous if neglected, because the kidneys become choked with refuse, and the result is a leaking filter, full of holes and ulcers, with the natural consequence that the whole system becomes poisonous and the blood contaminated with uric acid. Dr. Edwards' Compound Dandelion Tablets act directly upon the kidneys and remove the cause of the trouble. In other words, they repair the leaking filter and make it clean and healthy. "The Blood Is 'The Life'."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures and purifies the blood thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rhomb, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by enclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. A MAKER OF HISTORY

"Pelham," Duncombe said slowly, "was a neighbor of Miss Poynton's in Devonshire. It was through him that I first went to Paris to search for her."

"Glad to meet him, then," he remarked. "There are a few questions I shall be glad to ask him in the morning."

"There is one," Pelham said, "which you must answer now." Spencer raised his eyebrows. He was standing with his back to them now, helping himself to sandwiches from a dish upon the sideboard.

"By Jove, your cook does understand these things," he remarked, with his mouth full. "No idea I was so hungry. What was that, Mr. Pelham? A question which must be answered now?"

"Yes. You telegraphed to Duncombe to know the names of Lord Rinton's guests, and now you have come here yourself. Why?"

Spencer helped himself to another sandwich. "I came here," he said, "because I didn't seem to be getting on in Paris. It struck me that the clew to Miss Poynton's disappearance might, after all, be on this side of the channel."

"Pelham guided himself by the table to the sideboard. He stood close to Spencer.

"Mr. Spencer," he said, "I am almost blind, and I cannot see your face, but I want you to tell me the truth. I expect it from you."

"My dear fellow," Spencer answered, "I am awfully sorry for you, of course, but I really don't see why I should answer your questions at all, truthfully or untruthfully. I have been making a few inquiries for my friend Duncombe. At present I regret to say that I have been unsuccessful. In their present crude state I should prefer keeping my discoveries, such as they are, to myself."

"Pelham struck the sideboard with his clenched fist so that all the glasses rattled upon the tray. His face was dark with passion.

"I will not be ignored in this matter," he declared. "Phyllis Poynton and her brother are nothing to Duncombe. He acted only for me. He cannot deny it. Ask him for yourself."

"I do not need to ask him," Spencer answered. "I am perfectly well aware of the circumstances of the case. All the same, I am not ready to answer questions from you or anybody else."

"You shall tell me this at least," Pelham declared. "You shall tell me why you telegraphed here for the names of Lord Rinton's house party."

"Simplest thing in the world," Spencer answered, relinquishing his attack upon the sandwiches and lighting a cigarette. "I did it to oblige a friend who writes society notes for the New York Herald."

Duncombe gave vent to a little exclamation of triumph. Pelham for the moment was speechless.

"Awfully sorry if I misled you in any way," Spencer continued. "I never imagined your connecting my request with the disappearance of Phyllis Poynton. Why should I?"

"The fact is," Duncombe interposed, "there is a girl staying at Rinton House whose voice Pelham declares is exactly like Phyllis Poynton's and whose general appearance, I will admit, is somewhat similar to the photograph I showed you. It is a coincidence, of course, but beyond that it is absurd to go. This young lady is Miss Fielding. She is there with her father, and they are invited guests, with all the proper credentials."

Spencer nodded. "I suppose it is because I am not a lady's man," he said carelessly, "but I must admit that all girls' voices sound pretty much alike to me."

"I wish to heaven that I could see your face," Pelham exclaimed. "I should know then whether you were telling me the truth."

"The work point about my temporary profession is," Spencer remarked thoughtfully, "that it enables even strangers to insult one with impunity."

"If I have misjudged you," Pelham said, with some dignity, "I am sorry. I am to understand, then, that you have no news whatever to give us about the disappearance of Phyllis Poynton and her brother?"

"Not a scrap," Spencer answered. "I will wish you both good night, then," Pelham said. "No, don't trouble, George. I can find my way quite well by myself."

He disappeared, and Duncombe drew a little sigh of relief. "Extradite person, your friend?" Spencer remarked.

Duncombe nodded. "Very! I am frightened to death that he will make an use of himself before Miss Fielding. If he hears her speak he loses his head."

"Nice girl?" Spencer asked.

"Yes, very."

"What sort of a fellow's the father?"

"Very quiet. I've scarcely spoken to him. They're Americans. Friends of Lord Rinton's brother out in New York. Ever heard of them?"

"Yes, a few times."

"You seem interested."

"I am—very."

Duncombe turned suddenly white.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

Spencer held his cigarette between his fingers and looked at it thoughtfully.

"Mr. Fielding of New York," he said,

"called for America from Havre last Saturday. His daughter has gone to Russia with a party of friends."

Duncombe sprang from his seat. His cigarette slipped from his fingers and fell unheeded upon the carpet.

"Then who—who are these people?" he exclaimed.

Spencer shrugged his shoulders.

"I thought it worth while," he said, "to come over and find out."

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamberg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. LAYS WHOLESALE DEATH TO COAL SMOKE IN AIR.

London, April 21.—Dr. Sir Frederick Treves, in lecturing in behalf of the movement to abate the coal smoke nuisance here and in other large cities, said that, while the lungs of a healthy young child are plunk right through, the lungs of an adult living in a large city are as black as a thunder cloud, patched and streaked with blue and lined with dark marks, which premeate the innermost depths of those organs.

This, he said, was due entirely to the dirt and soot inhaled. He had seen the lungs of many persons who died in London which were black from the surface to their innermost recesses. This not only made it more difficult to resist disease, he said, but it also started a disease causing appalling misery.

Everybody, the speaker asserted, knew the terrors of a London fog. It would be merely a white mist but for the coal smoke, which gave it filthy, choking constituents. The fogs of London killed people not by the scores or hundreds but by the thousands.

Dr. Treves said that experiments showed that during a bad fog six tons of soot were deposited to a square mile.

ONE CENT TOO MUCH

And Chicago Postmaster Never Can Make Books Balance.

Chicago, April 26.—For the last sixteen years the Chicago postoffice has had a surplus of 1 cent on its books. No one had been able to find the source of the surplus or to whom the money was due until yesterday afternoon, when W. L. Cincas, a special agent of the North American Life Insurance company, notified post office authorities that he held a draft for 1 cent on the office. It was issued on Jan. 5, 1891, to his father, W. J. Cincas, of Lebanon, Ill.

The department of Chicago never has been able to balance its books because of this odd penny. Whenever a new postmaster has been appointed the retiring postmaster turned over the odd penny to the new head, that the books might balance.

The story of the surplus of 1 cent, printed in the Tribune, was read by Mr. Cincas. Remembering of a draft issued to his father, he took it to the auditor of the postoffice and found it was the cause of the surplus.

W. J. Cincas was postmaster at Lebanon, Ill., in the administration of Grover Cleveland. At the end of Cleveland's term of office Mr. Cincas sent in his statement.

It then appeared that he had sent in 1 cent too much. It was returned to him in the form of a draft. Mr. Cincas, wishing to keep draft as a remembrance, never cashed it. After his death in 1899 the draft was turned over to his son, who kept it as a relic.

After the settlement of the estate Mr. Cincas found it never could be cashed, as his father had not indorsed it in his name. For this reason the postoffice auditor never will be able to balance his books unless Mr. Cincas takes the matter into court.

Miss Lizzie Ederington, chief deputy county clerk, is enjoying a several weeks' vacation. She has been practically managing the county clerk's office for several months. She had sole charge of the office during Clerk Hiram Smalley's illness, and his subsequent trip to Chicago for his wife's health.

It positively cured me of Rheumatism after others had failed."

Flight Proves Expensive.
Horse racing was the topic of discussion in Metropolis between several Paducah boys who had gone down yesterday afternoon on the "Island Queen." Words proved inadequate, and the boys were resorted to but it cost each $11.49 in fines, as the town marshal happened to be at hand and promptly "pulled" them.

Bacteriologist Rubland is authority for the statement, and it is supposed he counted them in a sample of alleged ice cream taken from a Greek store where shop jars stood alongside the ice cream cans. There may be a few less in other places, but enough is known to show that the small boy has his money's worth of wrigglers whenever he purchases a penny's worth of the delicacy. BASEBALL GAME AT WALLACE PARK

Will be Played Saturday By High School and Metropolis

Paducah Boys Hope to Go Through Season Without a Defeat—New Uniforms.

PLANS FOR THE ISHKOODAH.

Tomorrow afternoon at league park the High school baseball teams of Metropolis and this city will tie up for a game. Last Saturday in a game at Metropolis the local boys were victorious, but it required strenuous work. Batting was an important feature of the game and most of the local boys hit the ball when a hit was needed. During this week both teams have been practicing steadily and a good game may be looked for. The High school boys are trying hard to not have a defeat this season in any of the athletic sports.

The new suits have not arrived but they were shipped Monday by the manufacturers and are expected to get here before the game tomorrow. A small admission will be charged to defray expenses of the game.

Captain Fisher will probably present the following lineup: Bagby, pitcher; Gallagher, catcher; Yeiser, first base; Katterjohn, second base; Elliott, third base; Fisher, short stop; Upperhelmer, Barton, Cave and Halley, fielders.

"The Ishkoodah."

Group pictures of the Junior class and the members of the tennis club of the High school were taken yesterday afternoon. The freshman and sophomore classes have already been finished. The pictures of the classes are for the June issue of "The Ishkoodah", and cuts of all the athletic teams will be contained. Students are working on the material and the prospects are for an excellent issue. All the work of preparation is being done by the students during spare hours. One boy has taken all of the pictures and a senior is working on the drawings to be used as headings over the different departments.

THEATRICAL NOTES

"The Plunger."

A good sized audience at the Kentucky last night enjoyed the performance of David K. Higgins' comedy drama, "The Plunger," as portrayed by the Menkall-Atwood company. The play has much merit and the company brought out the good points in a masterly manner.

Tomorrow a matinee will be given for ladies and children. "East Lynne" will be the bill. On Saturday evening the closing night of the company, two cash prizes will be given to the holders of the lucky tickets, $12.50 for first and $7.50 for second prize.

Something like a holiday was in the air at the wharboast this morning and throughout the day. Hardly a packet arrived except the George Cowling and the Royal. The weather characteristically veered until the cold winds swept the river front in wintry fashion. Business at the wharf today was dull in the freight line though the Metropolis celebration of the Odd Fellows made the wharboast alive in the passenger department. The river rose 3 in the last 24 hours, bring the stage up to 16.8. April 26 last year the stage was 23.
